THE WEEKLY GAZETTE is now the largest paper printed in the State, and having the matter published in the DAILY to select from, we challenge comparison with any newspaper in Wisconsin. In correct political doctrine, in reliable market reports, in giving the latest news from all quarters, in literary merit and in local information relating to this city and county, we shall spare no pains to make the WEEKLY GAZETTE worthy of public patronage and support.

THE NEWS.

We get no confirmation of yesterday's rumor of a disaster to Grant. The story of Burnside having lost a whole division, was probably a gold speculator's lie. It will be seen by our dispatches this afternoon that the gold gamblers in Wall Street have got it up to 225 with prospects of a still farther advance. It is a great pity that those fellows could not be sent to the front and compelled to lead the next assault on the rebel works, in the attack on Petersburg. Whether they intend it or not, these gold gamblers and speculators, are doing more to aid Jeff. Davis than can be told in a breath. They have now combined to compel Congress to repeal the gold gambling bill just passed, and we await the result with some anxiety.

The military aspect everywhere is as favorable as could be expected. We are without any official bulletin from Mr. Stanton, but his reticence should not be construed into an evidence of disaster. We should be better pleased if he would address "Major General Dix" daily, whether he has any important news to communicate or not. It would keep down the feverish anxiety that must now possess our people until the great struggle before Richmond is ended.

A WASHINGTON dispatch confirms the death of the rebel Major-General Leonidas Polk. He was born about 1806 at Raleigh, North Carolina. Graduated eighth in his class at West Point in 1827, but left the army soon after graduating and became a minister of the Episcopal Church. in 1838 he was appointed Missionary Bishop in Arkansas and the Indian Territory, and in 1841 Bishop of Louisiana. When the war broke out he was appointed Major-General by Jeff. Davis. His department included the whole of Tennessee. His encroachments precipitated Grant's occupation of Kentucky in 1861. At the battle of Shiloh he commanded a corps, and later in 1862, he invaded Kentucky with Bragg, whose First corps he commanded at Stone river. In the fall of 1863 he was superceded for disobedience to orders at Chickamauga, but in January last put into service again as commander of the rebel department of Mississippi. He joined Johnston recently, and as above stated is reported to have been killed in one of the recent encounters with our troops under Sherman.

A CORRESPONDENT of the N. Y. Tribune says the reading of Secretary Stanton's dispatch to the House this morning, announcing the taking of Petersburg, was marked by the most astounding exhibition of temper and policy that has thus far blotched our prosecution of the war. The news was received with joyful applause on the Administration side of the hall, with a burst of delight that interrupted the reading of the dispatch. The Democratic side of the House sat silent and sullen, four members only exhibiting any pleasurable emotion at the feat of arms with which Grant crowned his marvelous transportation of his army across the James river.

THERE WAS a large meeting in New York on Thursday night, in behalf of the movement for the early closing of retail shops, so as to give the clerks opportunity for self-improvement. Hon. Horace Greeley and Henry Ward Beecher were among the speakers. The latter said "a man not opened up by education was cripp'ed." He would tell the ladies that in shopping they would see the colors better in the daytime, and also a better color in the young men's cheeks.

THE NEW YORK Sun says the immigration setting in at that port is unprecedented. No less that than 16,000 landed during the week ending June 11th, a larger number than ever before arrived in the same length of time. Moreover, the imigration is of a superior class, largely consisting of small farmers, mechanics or tradesmen. A large proportion are immediately engaged on arrival, by farmers and others, who pay their transportation west.

THE Courrier des Etats Unis, the French paper of New York, denies the story of the London Times' Paris correspondent, that Napoleon had sent a civil and a military commissioner to this country, to look into the prospects of the war. The only envoy is one officer, who has come to study military movements just as McClellan and other officers of our army visited the Crimea.

AMERICAN AFFAIRS.

Richmond Campaign---Grant and Lee.

[From the London Times, May 21.]

Our recent anticipations of an important campaign in Virginia have been confirmed by a succession of the most obstinate and sanguinary battles which have signalized even this age of war. From the 6th to the 10th of the present month two great armies were incessantly engaged in conflicts so fierce as to surpass in carnage all former encounters on the same ground, and yet so indecisive as to render it difficult to say at the present moment to which side the balance of success inclines. It was not until the morning of Friday, the 5th, that Lee accepted the battle to which Grant was pressing him. Then the federal commander advanced and fell upon the entire front of the confederate line with an onslaught as straight, as impetuous, and as stubborn as that of Tilly on the Swedes at Leipsic. Like Tilly, however, he was repulsed with dreadful loss, nor could he by repeated assaults succeed in changing the fortunes of the day. So manifest, indeed, had been his failure that in the afternoon Lee discerned the opportunity of assuming the aggressive himself, and advanced in his turn upon the federals, but without any material success till night was closing in, when he turned the right of Grant's army and drove it back upon the center with a loss of nearly seven thousand men. That the advantage at this time rested rather with the confederates than the federals is not denied, but, nevertheless, on the night of the 6th Lee retired once more, and took up a new position at Spottsylvania Court House. To this point Grant lost not an hour in following him, and, after some sharp skirmishing on Saturday, he again assailed the confederates with unmitigated fury on Sunday morning. All through that Sabbath-day, all through Monday, and apparently all through Tuesday, the battle raged with little intermission but what the darkness of night and physical exhaustion imposed upon the combatants. Still, however, there was no decisive result. When the last dispatches left the field Lee retained his position, and was said to have been reinforced, while the aggregate losses of the federals up to the evening of Tuesday were reckoned, in killed, wounded, and missing at forty thousand. At this critical point we are left to wait in suspense for fresh intelligence. Never did American mail bring information more important than may be looked for by the next arrival. On the side of the North, it must be owned that the expectations entertained of Grant's prowess have received more confirmation than has usually attended the sanguine calculations of the federals. If he has not achieved absolute success, he has bid for it more desperately and approached it more nearly than any of his predecessors in command. He has fully justified his reputation for dogged and unconquerable tenacity. After once breaking up from his camp he has marched straight on, incessantly closing with his adversary, always offering battle, never declining it, undismayed by losses, undeterred by the most imminent danger. For the first time in the history of this war, a great battle has been followed by an immediate pursuit, bringing on another battle equally obstinate and bloody. Grant, though slightly worsted in the actions of the 6th, refused to quit his hold upon the enemy, or to plead any of the obvious excuses for suspending the operations of the campaign. It was this stubbornness of purpose which gained him his success at Vicksburg and his favor with the Northern people. They never thought him a military genius, but they believed him to be a most determined man—a man who would bring everything to the immediate issue of hard fighting, and who might either beat or be beaten, but who would never be hesitating or inactive. This estimate of his character he has fully justified. He has fought unceasingly, and has clung like a bull-dog to his work. Nor can it be added that he has fought altogether in vain; for he has advanced as he proposed to advance, and is actually a few miles further on the road to Richmond. On the other hand, it now appears beyond all doubt that the successive retirements of the confederate commander were but so many judicious and preconcerted operations of the campaign. The whole road to Richmond, be it remembered, is a series of positions which have long been studied and strengthened by the confederates, terminating in a capital fortified by all the defenses which modern art could devise, through a period of three years. Lee, if he falls back, is only falling back from one strong post to another, till he finds himself in the strongest post of all. Grant, if he falls back ever so little, gives up the game, while if he persists in advancing he discovers harder work than ever before him at the end of each day's march, and separates himself from his supplies in the same proportion. Already, we are told, he has found his communications intercepted by the confederate cavalry, and been compelled to change the base of his supplies; and it is intimated, indeed, that the action of the 10th was not sought by him, and that he had intended to postpone it for a few hours until his supplies had come up. Undoubtedly Grant is in a more difficult situation than Lee, for if he falls back, which, if he cannot dislodge his adversary, he must do, it will be under disadvantage; and if he advances either by force or upon the retirement of the confederates, it will be under disadvantage still. But he is invincibly obstinate, he has uncontrolled command, he has exacted the unreserved support of the government, and he has seen the southern general retire before him. He will, perhaps, renew his attack upon Lee, but if he ever reaches Richmond with an effective army he will have achieved a miracle of military success.

THE SALE TO-MORROW.—We call the attention of our readers to the sale of Mr. Dawson's land, advertised to take place at the Hyatt House Hall, in this city to-morrow.

Those lands are well known to the public, to be among the most desirable in this county. In extent of area they comprise one-sixth of a township. Their cultivation and development is a matter in which every member of this community has an interest. If we were a farmer owning and enjoying either of the many excellent favors offered by Mr. Dawson, we should feel that the line of our lives had fallen in a pleasant place.

How General Grant Set Out on His Campaign.

When he went away from here the last time he fully understood the nature and magnitude of the great work before him. He was perfectly satisfied with all things, and modestly claimed that in his plans God would grant him victory. He also remarked to his friends that, between two such armies as Meade's and Lee's, success depended upon steady, persistent pounding on the enemy, saving as many, of his own men as possible. He believed he had the larger number of soldiers, and a corresponding excess of physical strength and endurance, and by adopting his course he would be able to wear out the enemy. Says Grant: "I will narrow this matter down to a point. Suppose the enemy has two thousand and I have three thousand men, can there, need there be any doubt as to the result? The Army of the Potomac is raised to destroy Lee's army, and for that grand object I am going to use it. With determination and patience, by my plan, I can and will whip the enemy." Now, when one recalls and considers the conversation of Mr. Washburne with his friends since he left Grant's immediate presence, and the remarkable and characteristic dispatch by Grant to the Government, saying, "I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer," and withal, his few announcements of fighting, resting or maneuvering before the strong holds of the desperate foe, is it not easy to see why everything accords with what Grant said when he last left Washington? Verily the American people have need of patience and hopefulness in these times that try men's souls. Clouds and sunshine, calms and storms alternate now-a-days with wonderful rapidity.—Correspondence of the Providence Press.

SENATOR HALE'S SUCCESSOR.—Honorable Aaron H. Cragin, who has been selected by the Union Republicans of New Hampshire to succeed Hon. John P. Hale in the Senate of the United States, is a gentleman of high character and much experience in public affairs. He was born in Weston, Vermont, Feb. 8, 1821, and in early manhood began his profession as a lawyer, in Lebanon, New Hampshire. For many years he was the principal writer for the Lebanon Whig, which was one of the most influential anti-Democratic papers in the Granite State. In 1852, and for the two years succeeding, he was a member of the State Legislature. He was a member of the 35th Congress (1857—1859,) Mr. Cragin has always been a very strong anti-slavery man, and his election to the United States Senate will be hailed with much satisfaction by a very wide circle of friends. He is possessed of ample talents to fulfill most creditably the duties of this high official position, and is a man of strict public and private integrity.—Boston Transcript.

DAVISEGNATION.—Instances are common of the most afflictive separations of family relations by this unnatural war. Brothers and even parents and children are found in the ranks of the hostile armies. One of the most touching cases of this kind is that of a son of the Confederate President Jefferson Davis, who is serving in the national cause on the gunboat Carondolet, fighting to crush the rebellion which his father is the leader of. The Davis junior is the son of Eliza, late a slave to the patriarchal Davis. An officer of the army of Vicksburg, who had heard of the fact, verified it from Eliza's lips. How sharper than a serpent's tooth must be the grief of that parent whom unrelenting fate compels to take sides against his own son in a war for freedom.—Cincinnati Gazette.

KILLED.—A letter from a member of the 3d Wisconsin Cavalry, dated Van Buren, Ark., May 21th, mentions the death of Lewis McClure and Samuel Castelo, of company L, in that regiment. They were killed by bushwhackers. Their bodies had been brought to Van Buren and buried. The Third had taken twelve Bushwhackers and hung them.—Madison Journal.

The Black Warrior is the title of a paper recently started by the colored troops at Fort Parapet, Louisiana. An editorial treats upon the Fort Pillow massacre.—"They have flung down the gauntlet and we will accept it," is the language of the Black Warrior.

A dispatch to the Cincinnati Commercial, from Dayton, says that "In response to a serenade last night, Mr. Vallandingham said he didn't believe that there would be any attempt to arrest him, but should there be such a thing intimated, he and his friends are prepared for such an emergency."

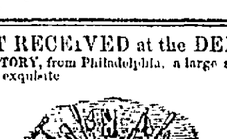

THE SPANISH government entirely disapproves the seizure of the Chincha Islands, belonging to Peru, by one of its Admirals; hence there is every probability that the difficulty with Peru will soon be settled.

THE WOUNDED men of the Indiana regiments in Meade's and Butler's armies, who are able to endure the journey, have been sent home to recover from their injuries.

RAIN IN CLINTON.—A gentleman from Clinton informs us to day that a fine shower fell in that town on Sunday last, giving to the face of vegetation, and the faces of the farming community a very pleasing appearance. He states furthermore, that crops look remarkably well yet, "considerin," and takes no stock in the prospective famine.

DON'T FORGET THE FESTIVAL TO-NIGHT.—Our citizens will need no further guarantee for the musical part of the entertainment this evening, than the announcement that the pupils of the Blind Institute will give liberally of their choicest Vocal and Instrumental music. It will be borne in mind by the public that the ladies of the Presbyterian Society gave up their festival on a previous occasion, and turned over all their nearly completed arrangements to the Soldiers Aid Society, enabling it to reap a generous harvest. In view of this fact we believe there will be a liberal gathering at the festival to-night, at Hyatt House Hall.

A PLEASANT SOCIAL PARTY.—Last evening a goodly number of persons met at Judge Noggle's, and enjoyed in true social style "a feast of reason and a flow of soul." Refreshments were served on a beautiful lawn in front of the Judge's residence, a hearty thank-offering having first been made by Rev. Mr. Staples, of Milwaukee. Ample justice was done to the supper by all present; and while creature-comforts were liberally dispensed, the mind and the heart were also refreshed and invigorated by cheering social and patriotic converse.

As night came on a beautiful grove skirting the lawn was splendidly illuminated by a large bonfire from the Judge's brush heap.

"The scene was more beautiful far to my eye,
Than if day in its pride had arrayed it."

Amid other festivities, several patriotic songs were sung with the spirit and with the understanding also. Our host and his "better half," (we hope the Judge will not take this as a personal disparagement,) did up everything admirably, to the great pleasure and satisfaction of all. We like such social gatherings. They are bright spots in the journey of life.

A PARTICIPANT.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.—We clip the following brief, favorable allusion to citizens, ministers and city, from a letter written to the La Crosse Democrat, under date of June 15th.

The State Sunday School Convention met at 3 o'clock P. M., but adjourned to 8 P. M., to afford time for the Reception Committee to assign places to the delegates.

We find hospitable treatment among the citizens of Janesville.

This is a most delightful town. The church we meet in—Congregational—is a fine building. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Kinney, is a very agreeable gentleman, and makes us very welcome to his church.

About five hundred persons assembled this evening. This is the fifth annual Convention of the Wisconsin Sunday School Union.

The President, W. H. Byron of Milwaukee, called the Convention to order. The session was opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Curtis, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Janesville.

Rev. Mr. Goodspeed, pastor of the Baptist Church of Janesville, made the address of welcome to the Convention.

This was a fine speech, and I wish you had room for a synopsis. The President responded in a very affecting manner.

BALTIMORE, June 16.—The American has the following:

ANNAPOLIS, June 21.—The steamer Connecticut has just arrived here with over 500 wounded, including 60 officers. They are principally from the 5th and 6th army corps. They were wounded on the 17th and instant, while charging the rebel works around Petersburg. They confirm the news that Burnside gained a decisive advantage on Saturday, and that Petersburg would soon be in our hands.

FINANCIAL MATTERS.

NEW YORK, June 21.—An important meeting of bankers and brokers will be held on Wednesday to urge the repeal of the gold bill. Business in foreign exchange is suspended. 206 is now asked for gold.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Wool market very excited and prices tending strongly upward. Free sales of fleece have been made at 90 and now held at 95 and 100 is anticipated during the week.

FROM THE SOUTH.

BALTIMORE, June 21.—Southern papers have the following:

ATLANTA, GA., June 16.—A telegram from Gen. Forest to Capt. Adair, dated Tupell, June 10th says there are no guns hurt and the victory was complete, the killed wounded of the enemy exceeded the total of my troops engaged. I have sent forward 13,00 prisoners and there are more yet behind.

THREE MILES FROM MARIETTA, June 16.—There was but little skirmishing the enemy. Sharpshooters were going all day. Maj. Masey of the 20th Mississippi was killed at 5 o'clock yesterday. Gen. Hooker's corps made a charge on Col. Barnes' division three lines deep and was repulsed with great slaughter. A few prisoners were taken who confess the above.

Col. Barnes' division fired 315 with shot shell and canister. The enemy was not able to bring his artillery to bear.

The Richmond Examiner says a government agent who left Lynchburg on Thursday, says a Yankee force, 15,000 strong, under Generals Hunter, Crook and Averill were at Forest Depot on the Virginia & Tennessee railroad, some 8 or 10 miles from Lynchburg. They have done a good deal of damage to the railroad, as was to have been expected, but we did not learn the particulars of their vandalism. A train of cars arrived from Danville last evening, the Yankee feat has not been accomplished.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The Richmond Enquirer of June 13th, gives an account of the operations by Gen. Averill in South-West Va. A force represented to be 16,000 strong formed a junction several miles north-east of Lexington, and it was supposed destroyed the Lexington Military Institute. Their advance was resisted by Gen. Constant, but he was unable to check them. A portion of Averill's force then went into Nelson county, where they made a descent upon the Lynchburg & Charlottesville railroad at Tyler river bridge, burned the bridge and committed other excesses.

Yesterday evening, the 12th, official information was received that they burned Arrington depot and passed on to Amherst Court House, 12 miles from Lynchburg.

Later information stated that they were within 6 miles of Lynchburg.

FROM LA CROSSE.

LACROSSE, Wisconsin, Tuesday June 21, 1864.—A fire at La Crosse last night, about midnight, destroyed a wooden row of buildings on Front street, between Juneau block and the Mississippi River. The steam printing office of the La Cresse Republican was totally destroyed. The loss is $6,000; insured for $2,000. The Scandinavian printing office—Faderland—was also destroyed. Both offices will resume business soon. It was the work of an incendiary.

Surrender of Petersburg Demanded

IT IS NOT COMPLIED WITH!

THE TOWN SHELLED!!

SEVERE FIGHTING!

Our Forces Sustain no Disaster!

THE WAR IN VIRGINIA.

NEW YORK, June 22.—No dispatch from Stanton last night.

Special to the World, dated Washington, June 21st, says intelligence from the front to yesterday noon is at hand. It is understood that Sheridan is already on another raid. Sunday night there was considerable skirmishing and heavy artillery firing but nothing important resulted.

A demand for the surrender of Petersburg had been made and refused, and our artillery have already shelled the town, which is nearly deserted by the inhabitants.

The Tribune's special, dated Washington, June 21st, says later information from the army is that all is quiet. Sunday night an attack was made upon our centre which was quickly repulsed. The rebels occupy a high eminence near the town and it would be a useless sacrifice of life to attempt to take the town, as the rebels, unless dislodged, would be able to throw shells in the midst of any force occupying the town. The position we hold is a very embarrassing one to the rebels, as they admit.

Times' special from near Petersburg 19th, says that the country may look for a demonstration shortly which will greatly change the aspect of affairs at that point. The bombardment of Petersburg is set down for the opening step in the ensuing week's operations. Birney has his artillery in excellent position at a range from 1200 to 1400 yards of the heart of the city, and at daylight to-morrow shelling will begin provided they do not previously surrender by evacuation or negotiation, the former of which is only likely to occur.

The arrival of Hunter with his force at the White House, together with Sheridan enroute to this place to operate in our vicinity has been officially announced this evening. Grant has determined to increase rather than diminish his force at this point.

Birney, commanding Hancock's corps, extended his line so far at to occupy the ground on which the wounded of yesterday's charge had since laid.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Heralds correspondent at City Point, 19th says the rebels report Ewel's corps sent against Hunter. With the capture of Petersburg, the Danville railroad will be the only communication south left. The width of the track differs from all others which will prevent the withdrawal of the rolling stock of this road, which will be easily destroyed, from Petersburg. So that the rebel Government will feel that Richmond is held by a very slight tenure. The loss of Petersburg is the virtual surrender of Richmond. Let the country be assured, that the glorious campaign of Vicksburg will find a parallel here.

Lee's announced victory at Howlets was an attack on Foster's division of Butlers force on the 17th. Field's and Pickett's division of Longstreet's corps, charged on Foster's line, driving his left and centre back. They were thoroughly repulsed however on every other portion. Subsequently a part of the original line was lost, but regained. To-day (the 19th) an attack was renewed with infantry and artillery and a portion of our centre was driven back. An advance was ordered and the enemy was driven, so we now hold our line triumphantly.

The 18th corps correspondent of the 19th inst., says Smith's command, except Martindale's division, is all encamped in the neighborhood of Port Walthaly. Hancock's corps was repulsed by the enemy yesterday, when Burnside advanced and succeeded in driving them from their position. To avoid flanking, they advanced the entire line and Hancock occupied.

Herald's correspondence from Hunter on the 19th, says the line of Railroad between Charlottsville and Lynchburg is destroyed effectually for two miles, thus cutting the rebel forces in two pieces.

Herald's James river correspondence of the 20th says the rebels were shelled out of position at Malvern Hill by gunboat Eutaw. Three of the rebel rams came down near by to Dutch Gap, and were fired on by our monitors. The rams steamed slowly back.

Grant and Butler were in the Agawam, having an interview with admiral Lee and witnessed the firing.

FROM DUBUQUE.

DUBUQUE, Ia., June 21.—The Northern Iowa Sanitary Fair was inaugurated here this afternoon. The opening exercises consisted of an eloquent address by President Wiltsee, a response in behalf of the delegation by J. W. J. Calkins, of McGregor, and prayer by Rev. D. M. Reed.

The Fair is the largest of all that have yet been held in the West, except at St. Louis. It is a magnificent offering to the soldiers. Crowds of strangers are in the city.

The receipts to-day amounted to thirteen thousand dollars.

FROM THE SOUTH.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The Richmond Sentinel 15th, says of Hunter's operations that after destroying part of the Charlottsville railroad they struck the railroad to Petersburg near Concord depot, and cut the telegraph for the purpose of isolating Lynchburg. The Sentinel says this is a failure owing to Sheridan not keeping up with Hunter. It also claims that Hampton whipped Sheridan.

by a new method, and with remedies that are eminently successful in the above class of chronic diseases.

The thinking and unbiased portion of the community will appreciate the great advantage of a permanent and reliable Institute for the cure of chronic diseases that usually baffle the skill of the general practitioner.

Catarrh, that great promoting cause of Consumption in the Northwest, always gives way upon application of the new remedies. Dr. Hale has never encountered a case of this disease he could not cure. The present season is very favorable for applying proper remedies; delays are dangerous. Your case may be cured this month, not next, to-day, not to-morrow.

All who are suffering from any of the diseases Dr. Hale makes a speciality in treating, should at least call and investigate the new system for themselves. No person of good sense and sound judgment will, without full and careful investigation, denounce as "humbug" that which claims to possess merit.

Dr. Hale takes pleasure in referring to the following responsible parties, citizens of Janesville, who can speak knowingly as to the efficacy of Dr. Hale's treatment, not to mention hundreds of others in the Northwest that have been cured:

M. Schuyler, proprietor of the Schuyler House; Dr. Tutt Davis, N. O. Rexinton, D. R. Stout, F. J. Tupper, Ellis Doty, job printer, J. D. Haynes, W. H. Mann, E. R. Beckley, N. Rowe, John Kerr, J. F. Burke, Wm. Hyzer, Mrs. W. W. Wheeler, Mrs. C. J. Cheney, Miss Belle Shattuck, Miss N. Wiley.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

THE NEWS.

We get no confirmation of yesterday's rumor of a disaster to Grant. The story of Burnside having lost a whole division, was probably a gold speculator's lie. It will be seen by our dispatches this afternoon that the gold gamblers in Wall Street have got it up to 225 with prospects of a still farther advance. It is a great pity that those fellows could not be sent to the front and compelled to lead the next assault on the rebel works, in the attack on Petersburg. Whether they intend it or not, these gold gamblers and speculators, are doing more to aid Jeff. Davis than can be told in a breath. They have now combined to compel Congress to repeal the gold gambling bill just passed, and we await the result with some anxiety.

The military aspect everywhere is as favorable as could be expected. We are without any official bulletin from Mr. Stanton, but his reticence should not be construed into an evidence of disaster. We should be better pleased if he would address "Major General Dix" daily, whether he has any important news to communicate or not. It would keep down the feverish anxiety that must now possess our people until the great struggle before Richmond is ended.

A WASHINGTON dispatch confirms the death of the rebel Major-General Leonidas Polk. He was born about 1806 at Raleigh, North Carolina. Graduated eighth in his class at West Point in 1827, but left the army soon after graduating and became a minister of the Episcopal Church. in 1838 he was appointed Missionary Bishop in Arkansas and the Indian Territory, and in 1841 Bishop of Louisiana. When the war broke out he was appointed Major-General by Jeff. Davis. His department included the whole of Tennessee. His encroachments precipitated Grant's occupation of Kentucky in 1861. At the battle of Shiloh he commanded a corps, and later in 1862, he invaded Kentucky with Bragg, whose First corps he commanded at Stone river. In the fall of 1863 he was superceded for disobedience to orders at Chicamauga, but in January last put into service again as commander of the rebel department of Mississippi. He joined Johnston recently, and as above stated is reported to have been killed in one of the recent encounters with our troops under Sherman.

A CORRESPONDENT of the N. Y. Tribune says the reading of Secretary Stanton's dispatch to the House this morning, announcing the taking of Petersburg, was marked by the most astounding exhibition of temper and policy that has thus far blotched our prosecution of the war. The news was received with joyful applause on the Administration side of the hall, with a burst of delight that interrupted the reading of the dispatch. The Democratic side of the House sat silent and sullen, four members only exhibiting any pleasurable emotion at the feat of arms with which Grant crowned his marvelous transportation of his army across the James river.

THERE was a large meeting in New York on Thursday night, in behalf of the movement for the early closing of retail shops, so as to give the clerks opportunity for self-improvement. Hon. Horace Greeley and Henry Ward Beecher were among the speakers. The latter said "a man not opened up by education was cripp'ed." He would tell the ladies that in shopping they would see the colors better in the daytime, and also a better color in the young men's checks.

THE NEW YORK Sun says the immigration setting in at that port is unprecedented. No less that than 16,000 landed during the week ending June 11th, a larger number than ever before arrived in the same length of time. Moreover, the imigration is of a superior class, largely consisting of small farmers, mechanics or tradesmen. A large proportion are immediately engaged on arrival, by farmers and others, who pay their transportation west.

THE Courrier des Etats Unis, the French paper of New York, denies the story of the London Times' Paris correspondent, that Napoleon had sent a civil and a military commissioner to this country, to look into the prospects of the war. The only envoy is one officer, who has come to study military movements just as McClellan and other officers of our army visited the Crimea.

LOCALS IN BRIEF.—The public schools of the city close their present term on Friday next.——The firing of cannon to-day was in honor of the return of a company of the 8th regiment belonging in this city, we understand.——Go to the Festival at Hyat House Hall, this evening.

A FAREWELL dinner was given to the Russian fleet at Boston on Wednesday evening. The Mayor presided and speeches were made by the Russian Admiral, Mr. Holmes, and others. Among those present was the oldest son of President Lincoln.

AMERICAN AFFAIRS.

Richmond Campaign---Grant and Lee.

[From the London Times, May 21.]

Our recent anticipations of an important campaign in Virginia have been confirmed by a succession of the most obstinate and sanguinary battles which have signalized even this age of war. From the 6th to the 10th of the present month two great armies were incessantly engaged in conflicts so fierce as to surpass in carnage all former encounters on the same ground, and yet so indecisive as to render it difficult to say at the present moment to which side the balance of success inclines. It was not until the morning of Friday, the 5th, that Lee accepted the battle to which Grant was pressing him. Then the federal commander advanced and fell upon the entire front of the confederate line with an onslaught as straight, as impetuous, and as stubborn as that of Tilly on the Swedes at Leipsic. Like Tilly, however, he was repulsed with dreadful loss, nor could he by repeated assaults succeed in changing the fortunes of the day. So manifest, indeed, had been his failure that in the afternoon Lee discerned the opportunity of assuming the aggressive himself, and advanced in his turn upon the federals, but without any material success till night was closing in, when he turned the right of Grant's army and drove it back upon the center with a loss of nearly seven thousand men. That the advantage at this time rested rather with the confederates than the federals is not denied, but, nevertheless, on the night of the 6th Lee retired once more, and took up a new position at Spottsylvania Court House. To this point Grant lost not an hour in following him, and, after some sharp skirmishing on Saturday, he again assailed the confederates with unmitigated fury on Sunday morning. All through that Sabbath-day, all through Monday, and apparently all through Tuesday, the battle raged with little intermission but what the darkness of night and physical exhaustion imposed upon the combatants. Still, however, there was no decisive result. When the last dispatches left the field Lee retained his position, and was said to have been reinforced, while the aggregate losses of the federals up to the evening of Tuesday were reckoned, in killed, wounded, and missing at forty thousand. At this critical point we are left to wait in suspense for fresh intelligence. Never did American mail bring information more important than may be looked for by the next arrival. On the side of the North, it must be owned that the expectations entertained of Grant's prowess have received more confirmation than has usually attended the sanguine calculations of the federals. If he has not achieved absolute success, he has bid for it more desperately and approached it more nearly than any of his predecessors in command. He has fully justified his reputation for dogged and unconquerable tenacity. After once breaking up from his camp he has marched straight on, incessantly closing with his adversary, always offering battle, never declining it, undismayed by losses, undeterred by the most imminent danger. For the first time in the history of this war, a great battle has been followed by an immediate pursuit, bringing on another battle equally obstinate and bloody. Grant, though slightly worsted in the actions of the 6th, refused to quit his hold upon the enemy, or to plead any of the obvious excuses for suspending the operations of the campaign. It was this stubbornness of purpose which gained him his success at Vicksburg and his favor with the Northern people. They never thought him a military genius, but they believed him to be a most determined man—a man who would bring everything to the immediate issue of hard fighting, and who might either beat or be beaten, but who would never be hesitating or inactive. This estimate of his character he has fully justified. He has fought unceasingly, and has clung like a bull-dog to his work. Nor can it be added that he has fought altogether in vain; for he has advanced as he proposed to advance, and is actually a few miles further on the road to Richmond. On the other hand, it now appears beyond all doubt that the successive retirements of the confederate commander were but so many judicious and preconcerted operations of the campaign. The whole road to Richmond, be it remembered, is a series of positions which have long been studied and strengthened by the confederates, terminating in a capital fortified by all the defenses which modern art could devise, through a period of three years. Lee, if he falls back, is only falling back from one strong post to another, till he finds himself in the strongest post of all. Grant, if he falls back over so little, gives up the game, while if he persists in advancing he discovers harder work than ever before him at the end of each day's march, and separates himself from his supplies in the same proportion. Already, we are told, he has found his communications intercepted by the confederate cavalry, and been compelled to change the base of his supplies; and it is intimated, indeed, that the action of the 10th was not sought by him, and that he had intended to postpone it for a few hours until his supplies had come up. Undoubtedly Grant is in a more dificult situation than Lee, for if he falls back, which, if he cannot dislodge his adversary, he must do, it will be under disadvantage; and if he advances either by force or upon the retirement of the confederates, it will be under disadvantage still. But he is invincibly obstinate, he has uncontrolled command, he has exacted the unreserved support of the government, and he has seen the southern general retire before him. He will, perhaps, renew his attack upon Lee, but if he ever reaches Richmond with an effective army he will have achieved a miracle of military success.

THE SALE TO-MORROW.—We call the attention of our readers to the sale of Mr. Dawson's land, advertised to take place at the Hyatt House Hall, in this city to-morrow.

Those lands are well known to the public, to be among the most desirable in this county. In extent of area they comprise one-sixth of a township. Their cultivation and development is a matter in which every member of this community has an interest. If we were a farmer owning and enjoying either of the many excellent favors offered by Mr. Dawson, we should feel that the line of our lives had fallen in a pleasant place.

How General Grant Set Out on His Campaign.

When he went away from here the last time he fully understood the nature and magnitude of the great work before him. He was perfectly satisfied with all things, and modestly claimed that in his plans God would grant him victory. He also remarked to his friends that, between two such armies as Meade's and Lee's, success depended upon steady, persistent pounding on the enemy, saving as many, of his own men as possible. He believed he had the larger number of soldiers, and a corresponding excess of physical strength and endurance, and by adopting his course he would be able to wear out the enemy. Says Grant: "I will narrow this matter down to a point. Suppose the enemy has two thousand and I have three thousand men, can there, need there be any doubt as to the result? The Army of the Potomac is raised to destroy Lee's army, and for that grand object I am going to use it. With determination and patience, by my plan, I can and will whip the enemy." Now, when one recalls and considers the conversation of Mr. Washburne with his friends since he left Grant's immediate presence, and the remarkable and characteristic dispatch by Grant to the Government, saying, "I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer," and withal, his few announcements of fighting, resting or maneuvering before the strong holds of the desperate foe, is it not easy to see why everything accords with what Grant said when he last left Washington? Verily the American people have need of patience and hopefulness in these times that try men's souls. Clouds and sunshine, calms and storms alternate now-a-days with wonderful rapidity.—Correspondence of the Providence Press.

SENATOR HALE'S SUCCESSOR.—Honorable Aaron H. Cragin, who has been selected by the Union Republicans of New Hampshire to succeed Hon. John P. Hale in the Senate of the United States, is a gentleman of high character and much experience in public affairs. He was born in Weston, Vermont, Feb. 8, 1821, and in early manhood began his profession as a lawyer, in Lebanon, New Hampshire. For many years he was the principal writer for the Lebanon Whig, which was one of the most influential anti-Democratic papers in the Granite State. In 1852, and for the two years succeeding, he was a member of the State Legislature. He was a member of the 35th Congress (1857—1859,) Mr. Cragin has always been a very strong anti-slavery man, and his election to the United States Senate will be hailed with much satisfaction by a very wide circle of friends. He is possessed of ample talents to fulfill most creditably the duties of this high official position, and is a man of strict public and private integrity.—Boston Transcript.

DAVISIGNATION.—Instances are common of the most afflictive separations of family relations by this unnatural war. Brothers and even parents and children are found in the ranks of the hostile armies. One of the most touching cases of this kind is that of a son of the Confederate President Jefferson Davis, who is serving in the national cause on the gunboat Carondolet, fighting to crush the rebellion which his father is the leader of. The Davis junior is the son of Eliza, late a slave to the patriarchal Davis. An officer of the army of Vicksburg, who had heard of the fact, verified it from Eliza's lips. How sharper than a serpent's tooth must be the grief of that parent whom unrelenting fate compels to take sides against his own son in a war for freedom.—Cincinnati Gazette.

KILLED.—A letter from a member of the 3d Wisconsin Cavalry, dated Van Buren, Ark., May 24th, mentions the death of Lewis McClure and Samuel Castelo, of company L, in that regiment. They were killed by bushwhackers. Their bodies had been brought to Van Buren and buried. The Third had taken twelve Bushwhackers and hung them.—Madison Journal.

The Black Warrior is the title of a paper recently started by the colored troops at Fort Parapet, Louisiana. An editorial treats upon the Fort Pillow massacre.—"They have flung down the gauntlet and we will accept it," is the language of the Black Warrior.

A dispatch to the Cincinnati Commercial, from Dayton, says that "In response to a serenade last night, Mr. Vallandingham said he didn't believe that there would be any attempt to arrest him, but should there be such a thing intimated, he and his friends are prepared for such an emergency."

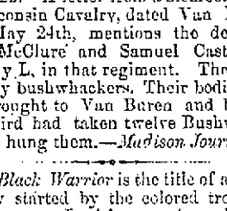

THE SPANISH government entirely disapproves the seizure of the Chincha Islands, belonging to Peru, by one of its Admirals; hence there is every probability that the difficulty with Peru will soon be settled.

THE WOUNDED men of the Indiana regiments in Meade's and Butler's armies, who are able to endure the journey, have been sent home to recover from their injuries.

DON'T FORGET THE FESTIVAL TO-NIGHT.—Our citizens will need no further guarantee for the musical part of the entertainment this evening, than the announcement that the pupils of the Blind Institute will give liberally of their choicest Vocal and Instrumental music. It will be borne in mind by the public that the ladies of the Presbyterian Society gave up their festival on a previous occasion, and turned over all their nearly completed arrangements to the Soldiers Aid Society, enabling it to reap a generous harvest. In view of this fact we believe there will be a liberal gathering at the festival to-night, at Hyatt House Hall.

A PLEASANT SOCIAL PARTY.—Last evening a goodly number of persons met at Judge Noggle's, and enjoyed in true social style "a feast of reason and a flow of soul." Refreshments were served on a beautiful lawn in front of the Judge's residence, a hearty thank-offering having first been made by Rev. Mr. Staples, of Milwaukee. Ample justice was done to the supper by all present; and while creature-comforts were liberally dispensed, the mind and the heart were also refreshed and invigorated by cheering social and patriotic converse.

As night came on a beautiful grove skirting the lawn was splendidly illuminated by a large bonfire from the Judge's brush heap.

"The scene was more beautiful far to my eye,
Than if day in its pride had arrayed it."

Amid other festivities, several patriotic songs were sung with the spirit and with the understanding also. Our host and his "better half," (we hope the Judge will not take this as a personal disparagement,) did up everything admirably, to the great pleasure and satisfaction of all. We like such social gatherings. They are bright spots in the journey of life.

A PARTICIPANT.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.—We clip the following brief, favorable allusion to citizens, ministers and city, from a letter written to the La Crosse Democrat, under date of June 15th.

The State Sunday School Convention met at 3 o'clock P. M., but adjourned to 8 P. M., to afford time for the Reception Committee to assign places to the delegates.

We find hospitable treatment among the citizens of Janesville.

This is a most delightful town. The church we meet in—Congregational—is a fine building. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Kinney, is a very agreeable gentleman, and makes us very welcome to his church.

About five hundred persons assembled this evening. This is the fifth annual Convention of the Wisconsin Sunday School Union.

The President, W. H. Byron of Milwaukee, called the Convention to order. The session was opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Curtis, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Janesville.

Rev. Mr. Goodspeed, pastor of the Baptist Church of Janesville, made the address of welcome to the Convention.

This was a fine speech, and I wish you had room for a synopsis. The President responded in a very affecting manner.

THE WAR IN VIRGINIA.

BALTIMORE, June 16.—The American has the following:

ANNAPOLIS, June 21.—The steamer Connecticut has just arrived here with over 500 wounded, including 60 officers. They are principally from the 5th and 6th army corps. They were wounded on the 17th and instant, while charging the rebel works around Petersburg. They confirm the news that Burnside gained a decisive advantage on Saturday, and that Petersburg would soon be in our hands.

FINANCIAL MATTERS.

NEW YORK, June 21.—An important meeting of bankers and brokers will be held on Wednesday to urge the repeal of the gold bill. Business in foreign exchange is suspended. 206 is now asked for gold.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Wool market very excited and prices tending strongly upward. Free sales of fleece have been made at 90 and now held at 95 and 100 is anticipated during the week.

FROM THE SOUTH.

BALTIMORE, June 21.—Southern papers have the following:

ATLANTA, GA., June 16.—A telagram from Gen. Forest to Capt. Adair, dated Tupell, June 15th says there are no guns hurt and the victory was complete, the killed wounded of the enemy exceeded the total of my troops engaged. I have sent forward 13,00 prisoners and there are more yet behind.

THREE MILES FROM MARIETTA, June 16.—There was but little skirmishing the enemy. Sharpshooters were going all day. Maj. Masey of the 20th Mississippi was killed at 5 o'clock yesterday. Gen. Hooker's corps made a charge on Col. Barnes' division three lines deep and was repulsed with great slaughter. A few prisoners were taken who confess the above.

Col. Barnes' division fired 315 with shot shell and canister. The enemy was not able to bring his artillrry to bear.

The Richmond Examiner says a government agent who left Lynchburg on Thursday, says a Yankee force, 15,000 strong, under Generals Hunter, Crook and Averill were at Forest Depot on the Virginia & Tennessee railroad, some 8 or 10 miles from Lynchburg. They have done a good deal of damage to the railroad, as was to have been expected, but we did not learn the particulars of their vandalism. A train of cars arrived from Danville last evening, the Yankee feat has not been accomplished.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The Richmond Enquirer of June 13th, gives an account of the operations by Gen. Averill in South-West Va. A force represented to be 16,000 strong formed a junction several miles north-east of Lexington, and it was supposed destroyed the Lexington Military Institute. Their advance was resisted by Gen. Constant, but he was unable to check them. A portion of Averill's force then went into Nelson county, where they made a descent upon the Lynchburg & Charlottesville railroad at Tyler river bridge, burned the bridge and committed other excesses.

Yesterday evening, the 12th, official information was received that they burned Arrington depot and passed on to Amherst Court House, 12 miles from Lynchburg.

Later information stated that they were within 6 miles of Lynchburg.

FROM LA CROSSE.

LACROSSE, Wisconsin, Tuesday June 21, 1864.—A fire at La Crosse last night, about midnight, destroyed a wooden row of buildings on Front street, between Juneau block and the Mississippi River. The steam printing office of the La Cresse Republican was totally destroyed. The loss is $6,000; insured for $2,000. The Scandinavian printing office—Faderland—was also destroyed. Both offices will resume business soon. It was the work of an incendiary.

Surrender of Petersburg Demanded

IT IS NOT COMPLIED WITH!

THE TOWN SHELLED!!

SEVERE FIGHTING!

Our Forces Sustain no Disaster!

THE WAR IN VIRGINIA.

NEW YORK, June 22.—No dispatch from Stanton last night.

Special to the World, dated Washington, June 21st, says intelligence from the front to yesterday noon is at hand. It is understood that Sheridan is already on another raid. Sunday night there was considerable skirmishing and heavy artillery firing but nothing important resulted.

A demand for the surrender of Petersburg had been made and refused, and our artillery have already shelled the town, which is nearly deserted by the inhabitants.

The Tribune's special, dated Washington, June 21st, says later information from the army is that all is quiet. Sunday night an attack was made upon our centre which was quickly repulsed. The rebels occupy a high eminence near the town and it would be a useless sacrifice of life to attempt to take the town, as the rebels, unless dislodged, would be able to throw shells in the midst of any force occupying the town. The position we hold is a very embarrassing one to the rebels, as they admit.

Times' special from near Petersburg 19th, says that the country may look for a demonstration shortly which will greatly change the aspect of affairs at that point. The bombardment of Petersburg is set down for the opening step in the ensuing week's operations. Birney has his artillery in excellent position at a range from 1200 to 1400 yards of the heart of the city, and at daylight to-morrow shelling will begin provided they do not previously surrender by evacuation or negotiation, the former of which is only likely to occur.

The arrival of Hunter with his force at the White House, together with Sheridan enroute to this place to operate in our vicinity has been officially announced this evening. Grant has determined to increase rather than diminish his force at this point.

Birney, commanding Hancock's corps, extended his line so far at to occupy the ground on which the wounded of yesterday's charge had since laid.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Heralds correspondent at City Point, 19th says the rebels report Ewel's corps sent against Hunter. With the capture of Petersburg, the Danville railroad will be the only communication south left. The width of the track differs from all others which will prevent the withdrawal of the rolling stock of this road, which will be easily destroyed, from Petersburg. So that the rebel Government will feel that Richmond is held by a very slight tenure. The loss of Petersburg is the virtual surrender of Richmond. Let the country be assured, that the glorious campaign of Vicksburg will find a parallel here.

Lee's announced victory at Howlets was an attack on Foster's division of Butlers force on the 17th. Field's and Pickett's division of Longstreet's corps, charged on Foster's line, driving his left and centre back. They were thoroughly repulsed however on every other portion. Subsequently a part of the original line was lost, but regained. To-day (the 19th) an attack was renewed with infantry and artillery and a portion of our centre was driven back. An advance was ordered and the enemy was driven, so we now hold our line triumphantly.

The 18th corps correspondent of the 19th inst., says Smith's command, except Martindale's division, is all encamped in the neighborhood of Port Walthaly. Hancock's corps was repulsed by the enemy yesterday, when Burnside advanced and succeeded in driving them from their position. To avoid flanking, they advanced the entire line and Hancock occupied.

Herald's correspondence from Hunter on the 19th, says the line of Railroad between Charlottsville and Lynchburg is destroyed effectually for two miles, thus cutting the rebel forces in two pieces.

Herald's James river correspondence of the 20th says the rebels were shelled out of position at Malvern Hill by gunboat Eutaw. Three of the rebel rams came down near by to Dutch Gap, and were fired on by our monitors. The rams steamed slowly back.

Grant and Butler were in the Agawam, having an interview with admiral Lee and witnessed the firing.

FROM DUBUQUE.

DUBUQUE, Ia., June 21.—The Northern Iowa Sanitary Fair was inaugurated here this afternoon. The opening exercises consisted of an eloquent address by President Wiltsee, a response in behalf of the delegation by J. W. J. Calkins, of McGregor, and prayer by Rev. D. M. Reed.

The Fair is the largest of all that have yet been held in the West, except at St. Louis. It is a magnificent offering to the soldiers. Crowds of strangers are in the city.

The receipts to-day amounted to thirteen thousand dollars.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

4 O'clock P. M.

FROM THE SOUTH.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The Richmond Sentinel 15th, says of Hunter's operations that after destroying part of the Charlottsville railroad they struck the railroad to Petersburg near Concord depot, and cut the telegraph for the purpose of isolating Lynchburg. The Sentinel says this is a failure owing to Sheridan not keeping up with Hunter. It also claims that Hampton whipped Sheridan.

THE WAR IN VIRGINIA.

BERMUDA HUNDREDS, June 22.—No general engagement since the last report. The rebels endeavored to construct earthworks on James river in the vicinity of Turkey Bend and Malvern Hill, but our gunboats shelled them out. Supplies have been sent to Sheridan at the White House.

FROM NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 21, P. M.—The Wood and Peace state committee met in the Astor House this afternoon. Abut 60 were present. Propositions to nominate an Independent canditate met little favor. Wood declined to commit himself for McClellan or any other man nominated at Chicago. A Mass Meeting was called for Wednesday in this city and other places to impress the Chicago convention that the people favor peace. Committee meet again on Monday.

FROM EUROPE.

HALIFAX, June 22.—Africa from Liverpool 11th arrived here to-day. She brings two days later news. It is stated that the Alabama is reported having burned many vessels lately. Political affairs unchanged.

by a new method, and with remedies that are eminently successful in the above class of chronic diseases.

The thinking and unbiased portion of the community will appreciate the great advantage of a permanent and reliable Institute for the cure of chronic diseases that usually baffle the skill of the general practitioner.

Catarrh, that great promoting cause of Consumption in the Northwest, always gives way upon application of the new remedies. Dr. Hale has never encountered a case of this disease he could not cure. The present season is very favorable for applying proper remedies; delays are dangerous. Your cases may be cured this month, not next, to-day, not to-morrow.

All who are suffering from any of the diseases Dr. Hale makes a speciality in treating, should at least call and investigate the new system for themselves. No person of good sense and sound judgment will, without full and careful investigation, denounce as "humbug" that which claims to possess merit.

Dr. Hale takes pleasure in referring to the following responsible parties, citizens of Janesville, who can speak knowingly as to the efficacy of Dr. Hale's treatment, not to mention hundreds of others in the Northwest that have been cured:

M. Schuyler, proprietor of the Schuyler House; De Witt Davis, N. G. Ronalson, D. R. Stout, F. J. Tupper, Ellis Doty, job printer, J. D. Hayner, W. H. Mann, H. H. Beckley, N. Rowe, John Kerr, J. F. Drake, Wm. Hyzer, Mrs. W. W. Wheeler, Mrs. C. J. Cheney, Miss Belle Shattuck, Miss N. Wiley.

GRANT'S LAST MOVEMENT.

Its Military Aspects and Objects---its Probable Effect upon the Campaign.

WASHINGTON, June 16, 1864.

Your readers will recollect that in my letter on the battle of the Chickahominy, in which I endeavored to recognize the true military character and bearing of that battle, I put on record the opinion that General Grant would make no further effort to pass the Chickahominy, and hinted that his eyes were even then "turned away to lines and combination more bold than any yet essayed. Well, what could then only be thus obscurely foreshadowed, is to-day a realized fact. Indeed, I may now go further, and state that from the very start, the transfer of the army to the south side of Richmond has formed an integral part of General Grant's plan of campaign; and while the battle of the Chickahominy was still in progress, the whole question of the pontooning of the James river was elaborately discussed.

The battle of the Chickahominy was an experiment, made for a specific purpose—to test the feasibility of an assault on Richmond from the northern side. It was an experiment perfectly proper to be made; and it was satisfactory. It convinced every reflecting mind that nothing was to be gained in that direction. This was obvious to every one, and every one waited to see what card Grant would play next. But it was only those who knew something of the boldness of his military conception, that could have ventured to anticipate a repetition of the Vicksburg strategy—the same strategy, the same audacity, only on a far grander scale.

This splendid stroke, comparable only to Moreau's passage of the Rhine and flank march on Ulm, stands to-day an accomplished fact; the Army of the Potomac, taken up, as in the arms of a giant, is transported from the Chickahominy and planted south of the James river, and south of Richmond. Now begins a new act in the grand war drama. We shall operate on new and unattempted lines, looking to new and hitherto unattainable results. I think there are few military men who do not now feel that the present position of the Army of the Potomac gives us reason to indulge brighter hopes of ultimate success than have been possible any time since the war began.

The south side is the true line of operation against Richmond looking to ulterior results. Of the three cardinal maxims of strategy, the most important of all prescribes "to operate on the enemy's communications without endangering their own." Now, the operations of the Virginia campaign have been conducted under circumstances that made it impossible to apply this principle. General Grant has aimed assiduously to bring on a great decisive field fight with the hope of crushing the rebel army. But from the nature of the country, its prodigious facilities for defense, and the skill of the opposing general, this has been impossible We gained victories; we steadily pushed the enemy back, and in an unparalleled campaign of 29 days, forced Lee from the Rapidan to the front of Richmond. But no decisive result was accomplished. General Lee's army is an army of veterans; it is an instrument sharpened to a perfect edge. You turn its flank; well, its flanks are made to be turned; that effects little or nothing. All that we can reckon as gained, therefore, is the loss of life inflicted on the enemy, and of having reached a point thus near the objective; but no military results. In loss of life we are undoubtedly suffering more severely than the rebels; I think we may fairly say in the proportion of five to their three. Now it is obvious that we could not have long stood this. Whatever preponderence of numbers we might have they would soon disappear—would soon become an equality, and presently an inferiority. The rebel army might have been worn away by attrition; but we should ourselves have been exhausted in the process. The hammer would have been broken on the anvil.

By the present move a new order of operation begins. We not only threaten the communication of the enemy, but we plant ourselves across his communications. The communications of the rebel army are the great lines of railroad by Petersburg and Danville and their connections.

Richmond is a city, Richmond, as a military centre, is strictly dependent on these lines for its supplies. Cut it off from these and you have a tourniquet around its throat. It may have a month's supplies, or three months, or six months; but these exhausted and it must succumb. If Lee allows himself to be shut up within Richmond, therefore, the problem reduces itself to a repetition of Vicksburg over again. Will he do so? That is a question.

But this is the pitiless alternative to which Lee is now reduced; to stay in Richmond and suffer the fatal lines of circumvallation to be drawn around him, or to come out of his works and give battle. Now a fair field-fight is precisely what the Army of the Potomac invites and welcomes; it will gladly give the rebels man for man, and engage to defeat them withal. If Lee is unwilling to run this risk, he retires within the defences of Richmond and ice then hold precisely the relations held by the Allies to Napoleon defending Paris in 1814. It was in vain then that that consummate master put forth a generalship that recalled the splendors of the first great Italian campaign; in vain he threw his masses on different points of the investing line. If Lee is not a better general than Napoleon, he can hardly hope for a much better fate.

With the army of the Potomac planted at, or north of Petersburg, we there tap the great railroad line connecting Richmond with the Atlantic seaboard and Gulf States. When there, Grant may be able to throw his left across the Danville road, and in this case Richmond is isolated. If his plan does not contemplate so great a development of front, he will at least provide for an effectual destruction of the latter road; and this, as well as the destruction of the Western (Lynchburg) road and the James river canal, will be an easy prey to our cavalry, which, under the hands of Sheridan, has almost put the rebel cavalry out of existence. The reduction of Fort Darling is an incidental piece of work, which will be gladly contended for by some of the able engineering heads of the Army of the Potomac. In the meantime, we have a pretty secure and convenient base—the James River—to which all the transportation lately at White House has been forwarded.

There is another aspect of the move to the south side of the James, which from the point of view of its relations to the whole theatre of war, is not less important than its bearing on the problem immediately before us. It is a division of the two great rebel armies, and gives us an interior position relative to the army of Lee in Virginia, and the army of Johnston in Georgia. It has been reported that large detachments of Johnston's army are already en route to reinforce Lee, and, if not actually under way, we may depend upon it that the able military heads that rule the war councils at Richmond, thoroughly imbued with the conception of concentration, and willing to risk everything to save Richmond, would willingly have sacrificed Southwestern territory to secure the great point in Virginia. But how does it stand now? General Johnston coming to reinforce General Lee would find his progress to Richmond barred by the same opponent who stopped his junction with Pemberton at Vicksburg! We secure this, therefore; first, that the enemy shall receive no addition to its strength, while our position effects a concentration of both the forces of Butler and Hunter with the main operating force.

While, however, we have reason to look forward to great and important results as coming from the new position of the army, I am very far from looking on our success as a foregone conclusion. We have opposed to us an enemy of the highest skill, handling an army of sufficient strength still to attempt great things, and animated by a spirit of desperation. I fully expect some bold, audacious initiative on the part of Lee, and the greater the the straits in which he finds himself, the more energetically he will attempt to retrieve himself, and the fortunes of the Confederacy bound up with him.

The State of Wisconsin, which is one of the strongest anti-slavery states in the Union, was disgraced the other day in the House of Representatives by the vote of Brown, Eldridge and Wheeler. On the proposition to refer to the States the constitutional amendment abolishing slavery, these gentlemen voted nay. Are these fellows so in love with that accursed institution that they cannot bear the thought of having it destroyed constitutionally? Did they fear that the States, to which it was to be submitted, were incompetent to judge in so important a matter? It seems so. And yet these gentlemen know very well that if the question could be submitted to a direct vote of the people of the districts they pretend to represent, the proposition would be carried overwhelmingly. Even that sour krout district represented by that malignant copperhead C. A. Eldridge, we believe would vote to abolish slavery by this peaceful and constitutional method. In the districts represented by Brown and Wheeler there are sound anti-slavery majorities. It is true, neither of those gentlemen have any business in Congress, and only got there through the imbecility and treachery of certain milk-and-water Republicans who are a disgrace to the party with which they profess to act. Both Wheeler and Brown pretended to be war democrats before they were elected, but they hold the truth, what little they have got, in unrighteousness and are not to be believed nor trusted hereafter because they cry "Lord, Lord!" As for Eldridge, he is one of those political sinners past all hope of redemption and is expected to go down with Wood, Voorhees and Cox.

People can now properly estimate the sincerity of certain politicans who have so loudly professed themselves to be in favor of the abolition of slavery if it could only be done constitutionally. Here was a method offered them at once safe, peaceable and constitutional, the very method they themselves suggested and pretended to favor, and what do they do? Why they vote against it to a man, and the proposition to amend the constitution fails!

After voting against the proposition to amend the constitution in this respect, it will surprise no one to learn, that Messrs. Brown, Eldridge and Wheeler also voted against repealing the Fugitive Slave Act.

Sharp on them.

IT HAS BEEN officially announced to the State Department that hostilities between Denmark and the German powers would be resumed on the 12th of June, unless postponed by the proceedings of the Conference at London, and that in such a case the blockade of the Prussian ports of the Baltic, as well as that of the ports of the Duchies of Schleswig and Holstien, which has been raised from the 12th ult., will go into force again immediately after the expiration of the time fixed upon for the duration of the suspension of arms.

DR. MARY WALKER.—A letter dated "Castle Thunder," Richmond, has been received by the mother of Miss Dr. Mary Walker, from which it appears that the heroic little surgeon bears her imprisonment lightly. The following is an extract from her letter:

"I hope you are not grieving about me, because I am a prisoner of war. I am living in a three story brick castle, with plenty to eat, and a clean bed to sleep in. I have a room mate, a young lady about twenty years of age, from near Corinth, Mississippi, (Miss Martha Manus.) I am much happier than I might be in some relations of life where I might be envied by other ladies. The officers are gentlemanly and kind, and it will not be long before I am exchanged."

A WASHINGTON correspondent says that there have been 242 applications for the position of Consul-General to Canada, rendered vacant by the death of Mr. Giddings. Hon. Samuel Galloway of Columbus, O., is thought to have the best chance for the place.

BRIG.-GEN. BROWN, commanding the District of Central Missouri, gives Gen. Rosecrans a sad account of the devastation of guerrillas, and expresses the opinion that only a most rigorous policy can restore order and protect the loyal inhabitants.

S. D. & H. W. SMITH'S AMERICAN ORGAN.

Among the different inventions originated and perfected by American ingenuity during the past twenty years, few are more surprising than the improvements in musical instruments, especially in reed instruments known as "Reed Organs," Harmoniums and Melodeons. European taste has long seemed to have been satisfied with the Organs of Alexandre and Ployel, although neither of those instruments afford much real variety of tone, notwithstanding the makers have multiplied stops and sets of reeds, and by consequence the cost, to an extraordinary degree. The American Organ made by S. D. and H. W. Smith, Boston, may safely challenge comparison with either of them, whether as regards variety, power and sweetness of tone or cost. All reed instruments made by the best manufacturers in this country are constructed on the same principle, viz: of drawing the air through the reeds by an exhaustive bellows, instead of forcing it through them by powerful pressure; and the "American Organ" differs from its competitors mainly in three points: 1st, The great care and thoroughness exercised in manufacture; 2d, In the skillful voicing, giving as many different qualities of tone as there are sets of reeds; and 3d, In the use of a reverberating box, which adds materially to the power of the instrument without detriment to its delicacy and sweetness. Any person possessing a musical box can readily appreciate this improvement by setting it while in operation on a neutral or table, and then on a large empty box or barrel, and observing its vastly increased power and richness when in the latter position. In these three points—and they are certainly material ones—is superiority claimed for the American Organs of Messrs. S. D. & H. W. Smith over the reed instruments of other makers. The Messrs. Smith, being the most experienced Reed Organ makers in Boston, (having established themselves in 1852), and having at least equal facilities with any other makers, have always kept themselves familiar with all improvements and inventions in their department, and they confidently assert their "AMERICAN ORGANS" to be unequalled in voicing, and unsurpassed by any, at home or abroad, in purity, sweetness and power of tone. The contrivances for producing varied expression, such as the "treble forte" tremolo and the swell, and the ease with which change of stops may be made, render the American Organ, in skillful hands, capable of as much delicacy of expression and variety of effect as the expensive Harmoniums of Alexandre with their thirteen registers, and while undoubtedly far superior in durability, is sold for less than half the cost. The demand in England for Smith's American Organ is steadily increasing, and is an irrefragable proof that it triumphantly stands the test of competition in their own market with the most celebrated European instruments.

Those who have used the cloths made at this mill, both by myself and to wants for the past 12 years can bear witness to their superior quality. If other testimony were needed, the following from the dry goods article in the Chicago Tribune, of November 4th, 1863, might be added:

"The trade in woolen goods is now unusually brisk, and rarely if ever have we seen such a large and varied stock in market. It is noticeable also that the best qualities are of domestic manufacture, and quite a large assortment of Western goods are offered. Some of the best plain cassimeres in market at present are manufactured—not in England nor France—nor even in the Eastern States—but in Wisconsin and in several portions of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. The goods sent to our market from the "Stone Mills," Janesville, (as exhibited by their agents, Bowen Bros., of this city,) deserve special mention because of their excellence in every particular, and because we consider it our duty as a journalist to aid and foster home manufactures." Customers may rely upon having their work done promptly, and from June 15th to Sept. 15th at the following extremely low rates.

GRANT'S LAST MOVEMENT.

Its Military Aspects and Objects---Its Probable Effect upon the Campaign.

WASHINGTON, June 16, 1864.

Your readers will recollect that in my letter on the battle of the Chickahominy, in which I endeavored to recognize the true military character and bearing of that battle, I put on record the opinion that General Grant would make no further effort to pass the Chickahominy, and hinted that his eyes were even then "turned away to lines and combination more bold than any yet essayed. Well, what could then only be thus obscurely foreshadowed, is to-day a realized fact. Indeed, I may now go further, and state that from the very start, the transfer of the army to the south side of Richmond has formed an integral part of General Grant's plan of campaign; and while the battle of the Chickahominy was still in progress, the whole question of the pontooning of the James river was elaborately discussed.

The battle of the Chickahominy was an experiment, made for a specific purpose—to test the feasibility of an assault on Richmond from the northern side. It was an experiment perfectly proper to be made; and it was satisfactory. It convinced every reflecting mind that nothing was to be gained in that direction. This was obvious to every one, and every one waited to see what card Grant would play next. But it was only those who knew something of the boldness of his military conception, that could have ventured to anticipate a repetition of the Vicksburg strategy—the same strategy, the same audacity, only on a far grander scale.

This splendid stroke, comparable only to Moreau's passage of the Rhine and flank march on Ulm, stands to-day an accomplished fact; the Army of the Potomac, taken up, as in the arms of a giant, is transported from the Chickahominy and planted south of the James river, and south of Richmond. Now begins a new act in the grand war drama. We shall operate on new and unattempted lines, looking to new and hitherto unattainable results. I think there are few military men who do not now feel that the present position of the Army of the Potomac gives us reason to indulge brighter hopes of ultimate success than have been possible any time since the war began.

The south side is the true line of operation against Richmond looking to ulterior results. Of the three cardinal maxims of strategy, the most important of all prescribes "to operate on the enemy's communications without endangering their own." Now, the operations of the Virginia campaign have been conducted under circumstances that made it impossible to apply this principle. General Grant has aimed assiduously to bring on a great decisive field fight with the hope of crushing the rebel army. But from the nature of the country, its prodigious facilities for defense, and the skill of the opposing general, this has been impossible We gained victories; we steadily pushed the enemy back, and in an unparalleled campaign of 29 days, forced Lee from the Rapidan to the front of Richmond. But no decisive result was accomplished. General Lee's army is an army of veterans; it is an instrument sharpened to a perfect edge. You turn its flank; well, its flanks are made to be turned; that effects little or nothing. All that we can reckon as gained, therefore, is the loss of life inflicted on the enemy, and of having reached a point thus near the objective; but no military results. In loss of life we are undoubtedly suffering more severely than the rebels; I think we may fairly say in the proportion of five to their three. Now it is obvious that we could not have long stood this. Whatever preponderance of numbers we might have they would soon disappear—would soon become an equality, and presently an inferiority. The rebel army might have been worn away by attrition; but we should ourselves have been exhausted in the process. The hammer would have been broken on the anvil.

By the present move a new order of operation begins. We not only threaten the communication of the enemy, but we plant ourselves across his communications. The communications of the rebel army are the great lines of railroad by Petersburg and Danville and their connections.

Richmond is a city, Richmond, as a military centre, is strictly dependent on these lines for its supplies. Cut it off from these and you have a tourniquet around its throat. It may have a month's supplies, or three months, or six months; but these exhausted and it must succumb. If Lee allows himself to be shut up within Richmond, therefore, the problem reduces itself to a repetition of Vicksburg over again. Will he do so? That is a question.

But this is the pitiless alternative to which Lee is now reduced; to stay in Richmond and suffer the fatal lines of circumvallation to be drawn around him, or to come out of his works and give battle. Now a fair field-fight is precisely what the Army of the Potomac invites and welcomes; it will gladly give the rebels man for man, and engage to defeat them withal. If Lee is unwilling to run this risk, he retires within the defences of Richmond and we then hold precisely the relations held by the Allies to Napoleon defending Paris in 1814. It was in vain then that that consummate master put forth a generalship that recalled the splendors of the first great Italian campaign; in vain he threw his masses on different points of the investing line. If Lee is not a better general than Napoleon, he can hardly hope for a much better fate.

With the army of the Potomac planted at, or north of Petersburg, we there tap the great railroad line connecting Richmond with the Atlantic seaboard and Gulf States. When there, Grant may be able to throw his left across the Danville road, and in this case Richmond is isolated. If his plan does not contemplate so great a development of front, he will at least provide for an effectual destruction of the latter road; and this, as well as the destruction of the Western (Lynchburg) road and the James river canal, will be an easy prey to our cavalry, which, under the hands of Sheridan, has almost put the rebel cavalry out of existence. The reduction of Fort Darling is an incidental piece of work, which will be gladly contended for by some of the able engineering heads of the Army of the Potomac. In the meantime, we have a pretty secure and convenient base—the James River—to which all the transportation lately at White House has been forwarded.

There is another aspect of the move to the south side of the James, which from the point of view of its relations to the whole theatre of war, is not less important than its bearing on the problem immediately before us. It is a division of the two great rebel armies, and gives us an interior position relative to the army of Lee in Virginia, and the army of Johnston in Georgia. It has been reported that large detachments of Johnston's army are already en route to reinforce Lee, and, if not actually under way, we may depend upon it that the able military heads that rule the war councils at Richmond, thoroughly imbued with the conception of concentration, and willing to risk everything to save Richmond, would willingly have sacrificed Southwestern territory to secure the great point in Virginia. But how does it stand now? General Johnston coming to reinforce General Lee would find his progress to Richmond barred by the same opponent who stopped his junction with Pemberton at Vicksburg! We secure this, therefore; first, that the enemy shall receive no addition to its strength, while our position effects a concentration of both the forces of Butler and Hunter with the main operating force.

While, however, we have reason to look forward to great and important results as coming from the new position of the army, I am very far from looking on our success as a foregone conclusion. We have opposed to us an enemy of the highest skill, handling an army of sufficient strength still to attempt great things, and animated by a spirit of desperation. I fully expect some bold, audacious initiative on the part of Lee, and the greater the the straits in which he finds himself, the more energetically he will attempt to retrieve himself, and the fortunes of the Confederacy bound up with him.

DISTRICT ELECTORS.

Three of Them.

The State of Wisconsin, which is one of the strongest anti-slavery states in the Union, was disgraced the other day in the House of Representatives by the vote of Brown, Eldridge and Wheeler. On the proposition to refer to the States the constitutional amendment abolishing slavery, these gentlemen voted nay. Are these fellows so in love with that accursed institution that they cannot bear the thought of having it destroyed constitutionally? Did they fear that the States, to which it was to be submitted, were incompetent to judge in so important a matter? It seems so. And yet these gentlemen know very well that if the question could be submitted to a direct vote of the people of the districts they pretend to represent, the proposition would be carried overwhelmingly. Even that sour krout district represented by that malignant copperhead C. A. Eldridge, we believe would vote to abolish slavery by this peaceful and constitutional method. In the districts represented by Brown and Wheeler there are sound anti-slavery majorities. It is true, neither of those gentlemen have any business in Congress, and only got there through the imbecility and treachery of certain milk-and-water Republicans who are a disgrace to the party with which they profess to act. Both Wheeler and Brown pretended to be war democrats before they were elected, but they hold the truth, what little they have got, in unrighteousness and are not to be believed nor trusted hereafter because they cry "Lord, Lord!" As for Eldridge, he is one of those political sinners past all hope of redemption and is expected to go down with Wood, Voorhees and Cox.

People can now properly estimate the sincerity of certain politicans who have so loudly professed themselves to be in favor of the abolition of slavery if it could only be done constitutionally. Here was a method offered them at once safe, peaceable and constitutional, the very method they themselves suggested and pretended to favor, and what do they do? Why they vote against it to a man, and the proposition to amend the constitution fails!

After voting against the proposition to amend the constitution in this respect, it will surprise no one to learn that Messrs. Brown, Eldridge and Wheeler also voted against repealing the Fugitive Slave Act.

Shame on them.

IT HAS BEEN officially announced to the State Department that hostilities between Denmark and the German powers would be resumed on the 12th of June, unless postponed by the proceedings of the Conference at London, and that in such a case the blockade of the Prussian ports of the Baltic, as well as that of the ports of the Duchies of Schleswig and Holstien, which has been raised from the 12th ult., will go into force again immediately after the expiration of the time fixed upon for the duration of the suspension of arms.

DR. MARY WALKER.—A letter dated "Castle Thunder," Richmond, has been received by the mother of Miss Dr. Mary Walker, from which it appears that the heroic little surgeon bears her imprisonment lightly. The following is an extract from her letter:

"I hope you are not grieving about me, because I am a prisoner of war. I am living in a three story brick castle, with plenty to eat, and a clean bed to sleep in. I have a room mate, a young lady about twenty years of age, from near Corinth, Mississippi, (Miss Martha Manus.) I am much happier than I might be in some relations of life where I might be envied by other ladies. The officers are gentlemanly and kind, and it will not be long before I am exchanged."

A WASHINGTON correspondent says that there have been 242 applications for the position of Consul-General to Canada, rendered vacant by the death of Mr. Giddings. Hon. Samuel Galloway of Columbus, O., is thought to have the best chance for the place.

BRIG.-GEN. BROWN, commanding the District of Central Missouri, gives Gen. Rosecrans a sad account of the devastation of guerrillas, and expresses the opinion that only a most rigorous policy can restore order and protect the loyal inhabitants.

S. D. & H. W. SMITH'S AMERICAN ORGAN.

Among the different inventions originated and perfected by American ingenuity during the past twenty years, few are more surprising than the improvements in musical instruments, especially in reed instruments known as "Reed Organs," Harmoniums and Melodeons. European taste has long seemed to have been satisfied with the Organs of Alexandre and Ployel, although neither of those instruments afford much real variety of tone, notwithstanding the makers have multiplied stops and sets of reeds, and by consequence the cost, to an extraordinary degree. The American Organ made by S. D. and H. W. Smith, Boston, may safely challenge comparison with either of them, whether as regards variety, power and sweetness of tone or cost. All reed instruments made by the best manufacturers in this country are constructed on the same principle, viz: of drawing the air through the reeds by an exhaustive bellows, instead of forcing it through them by powerful pressure; and the "American Organ" differs from its competitors mainly in three points: 1st, The great care and thoroughness exercised in manufacture; 2d, In the skillful voicing, giving as many different qualities of tone as there are sets of reeds; and 3d, In the use of a reverberating box, which adds materially to the power of the instrument without detriment to its delicacy and sweetness. Any person possessing a musical box can readily appreciate this improvement by setting it while in operation on a mantel or table, and then on a large empty box or barrel, and observing its vastly increased power and richness when in the latter position. In these three points—and they are certainly material ones—is superiority claimed for the American Organs of Messrs. S. D. & H. W. Smith over the reed instruments of other makers. The Messrs. Smith, being the most experienced Reed Organ makers in Boston, (having established themselves in 1852), and having at least equal facilities with any other makers, have always kept themselves familiar with all improvements and inventions in their department, and they confidently assert their "AMERICAN ORGANS" to be unequalled in voicing, and unsurpassed by any, at home or abroad, in purity, sweetness and power of tone. The contrivances for producing varied expression, such as the "treble forte" tremolo and the swell, and the ease with which change of stops may be made, render the American Organ, in skillful hands, capable of as much delicacy of expression and variety of effect as the expensive Harmoniums of Alexandre with their thirteen registers, and while undoubtedly far superior in durability, is sold for less than half the cost. The demand in England for Smith's American Organs is steadily increasing, and is an irrefragable proof that it triumphantly stands the test of competition in their own market with the most celebrated European instruments.

WOOLEN FACTORY,

Janesville, Wis.

The subscriber at the Factory known as the

"STONE MILLS,"

on the Monterey Water Power, has two sets of wide machinery in full operation, and is now putting in the third set, making it the

and about three times as large as the other Factories in the State.

Having a large establishment he is enabled to employ better workmen, do business to better advantage and with more promptness, and offer to customers better inducements for their patronage than can be done at any other mill in the State.

Those who have used the cloths made at this mill, both by myself and tenants for the past 12 years can bear witness to their superior quality. If other testimony were needed, the following from the dry goods article in the Chicago Tribune, of November 4th, 1863, might be added:

"The trade in woolen goods is now unusually brisk, and rarely if ever have we seen such a large and varied stock in market. It is noticeable also that the best qualities are of domestic manufacture, and quite a large assortment of Western goods are offered. Some of the best plain cassimeres in market at present are manufactured—not in England nor France—nor even in the Eastern States—but in Wisconsin and in several portions of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. The goods sent to our market from the "Stone Mills," Janesville, (as exhibited by their agents, Bowen Bros., of this city,) deserve special mention because of their excellence in every particular, and because we consider it our duty as a journalist to aid and foster home manufactures."

Customers may rely upon having their work done promptly, and from June 15th to Sept. 15th at the following extremely low rates.

TERMS OF EXCHANGE:

For 1¼ lbs. of wool a yard of Jeans, Tweed or Union Cassimere.
For 1¾ lbs. of wool a yard of Satinett or Flannel.
For 2 lbs. of wool a yard of Cassimere, either plain or fancy.

PRICES FOR MANUFACTURING:

THE SHARK AND THE DIVER.—The adventure of the diver attached to the Fawn is worthy of a place in Edgar A. Poe's tales of wonder. On making his way in his gutta-percha dress into the saloon of a wrecked vessel, he was suddenly surprised by the appearance of a huge ground shark, which sailed in at the door. Escape was impossible. All that could be done was to remain perfectly quiet. The monster, meanwhile, fixed its cold green eye on him, pushed against the leaden soles of his and rubbed against his dress, the slightest puncture in which would have been certain destruction. Ten minutes elapsed—a lifetime under the circumstances—but the nerve of the hero was at length rewarded by witnessing his enemy turn tail, and sail out by the way he came in, leaving him to make the best of his way upward to the surface.—Cruise of H. M. S. Fawn.

STATE PRISON.—Ten convicts, under the charge of Wm. Ware, Esq., are at work on the new prison sewer, at the foot of Madison street, next to the river. He informs us that he thought with good luck it can be completed as far as Main street this season. The sewer is being dug eight feet wide, and eight and one-half feet deep where the men are at work now, and will not be less than five feet deep on a average to the prison. It is to be built of limestone laid in water-lime, two and one-half feet wide by three and one-half feet deep, and the top arched. It is estimated that it will take four hundred cords of stone, fourteen thousand bushels of sand, and one hundred barrels of water-lime, to complete it. It will be a permanent thing when finished.—Waupun Times.

SMITH & BOSTWICK.
Janesville, June 6, 1864. 630je6dawly

FARMERS, TAKE NOTICE!

The undersigned are having made at Beloit, Wis., one hundred of those Reapers known as the Cheap, or Webber Reaper!

Notwithstanding the increase of nearly double in price over other years of all materials put in Reapers, we are going to sell for 1864 at about the same prices as before. Our prices at the shop are $110 cash for single Reaper, for Reaper and Mower $140. We are making Fifty Mowers, which will be warranted to do good work. They will be made of steel bars of the Buckeye pattern, except the hinges.
Those buying Reapers alone can have Mowers the next year or thereafter for the same price, as the difference lays on reaper and mower.
We do not deem it necessary to extol our Reaper, for it is already known to be the only two-horse Reaper in use. Notwithstanding a great many are used with two horses, they ought to use three or four, and some of them six, to be as easy to the horse as ours are to two ordinary horses.
Please send in your orders early to be sure of a machine, as positively only one hundred of them will be built, and we will warrant each and every machine to

Work Well in all Kinds of Grain!

The Rods will be different from last year. They will be the over hanging rod, and have six bats instead of four keeping the reel, holding the grain to the sickle steady.
They will be shipped to any depot in Wisconsin or Illinois. Ten per cent. will be added if sold on time. One half the 1st of September, 1864, the balance the 1st of September, 1865.
Those buying machines will confer a favor by giving this machine publicity in their respective neighborhoods. When material gets to its usual stage we intend to make it a ninety dollar machine, and should have done it but for the unprecedented high prices of everything to construct machines with.

The Reaper Shop at Afton!

will attend strictly to the repairing of the Webber Reaper. None others wanted. We are prepared to change from chain to belt, put on caster wheels upon short notice. Men will be on hand to repair promptly. Charges light as the cost of material will admit. We shall manufacture none at that place, consequently we will be prepared to repair. Work solicited. All orders should be directed to

GOTTSCHALK ON KNABE.

(Translated from the French.)

After having played on the Piano of Messrs. Knabe & Co., it is impossible not to bear testimony to their qualities, which have acquired for them the eminent reputation which they enjoy. The Pianos of their manufacture, on which I have played, are exceedingly remarkable for their qualities. The bass is powerful without harshness, and the upper notes sweet, clear and harmoniously full, (chrystaline,) and I do not hesitate to express in regard to these instruments my entire satisfaction, and to declare that they are equal if not superior to the best manufactured in Europe or this country by the most celebrated makers.
Signed, L. M. GOTTSCHALK.

Janesville Daily Gazette.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 22, 1864.

THE SHARK AND THE DIVER.—The adventure of the diver attached to the Fawn is worthy of a place in Edgar A. Poe's tales of wonder. On making his way in his gutta-percha dress into the saloon of a wrecked vessel, he was suddenly surprised by the appearance of a huge ground shark, which sailed in at the door. Escape was impossible. All that could be done was to remain perfectly quiet. The monster, meanwhile, fixed its cold green eye on him, pushed against the leaden soles of his and rubbed against his dress, the slightest puncture in which would have been certain destruction. Ten minutes elapsed—a life-time under the circumstances—but the nerve of the hero was at length rewarded by witnessing his enemy turn tail, and sail out by the way he came in, leaving him to make the best of his way upward to the surface.—Cruise of H. M. S. Fawn.

STATE PRISON.—Ten convicts, under the charge of Wm. Ware, Esq., are at work on the new prison sewer, at the foot of Madison street, next to the river. He informs us that he thought with good luck it can be completed as far as Main street this season. The sewer is being dug eight feet wide, and eight and one-half feet deep where the men are at work now, and will not be less than five feet deep on a average to the prison. It is to be built of limestone laid in water-lime, two and one-half feet wide by three and one-half feet deep, and the top arched. It is estimated that it will take four hundred cords of stone, fourteen thousand bushels of sand, and one hundred barrels of water-lime, to complete it. It will be a permanent thing when finished.—Waupun Times.

FARMERS, TAKE NOTICE!
The undersigned are having made at Beloit, Wis., one hundred of those Reapers known as the Cheap, or Webber Reaper!
Notwithstanding the increase of nearly double in price over other years of all materials put in Reapers, we are going to sell for 1864 at about the same prices as before. Our prices at the shop are $110 cash for single Reaper, for Reaper and Mower $140. We are making Fifty Mowers, which will be warranted to do good work. They will be made of steel bars of the Buckeye pattern, except the hinges.
Those buying Reapers alone can have Mowers the next year or thereafter for the same price, as the difference between reaper and mower.
We do not deem it necessary to extol our Reaper, for it is already known to be the only two-horse Reaper in use. Notwithstanding a great many are used with two horses, they ought to use three or four, and some of them six, to be as easy to the horse as ours are to two ordinary horses.
Please send in your orders early to be sure of a machine, as positively only one hundred of them will be built, and we will warrant each and every machine to Work Well in all Kinds of Grain!
The Reels will be different from last year. They will be the over hanging reel, and have six bats instead of four keeping the reel, holding the grain to the sickle steady.
They will be shipped to any depot in Wisconsin or Illinois. Ten per cent. will be added if sold on time. One half the 1st of September, 1864, the balance the 1st of September, 1865.
Those buying machines will confer a favor by giving this machine publicity in their respective neighborhoods. When material gets to its usual stage we intend to make it a ninety dollar machine, and should have done it but for the unprecedented high prices of everything to construct machines with.
The Reaper Shop at Afton!
will attend strictly to the repairing of the Webber Reaper. None others warrant. We are prepared to change from chain to belt, put on caster wheels upon short notice. Men will be on hand to repair promptly. Charges light as the cost of material will admit. We shall manufacture none at that place, consequently we will be prepared to repair. Work solicited. All orders should be directed to

COTTSCHALK ON KNABE.
[Translated from the French.]
After having played on the Piano of Messrs. Knabe & Co., it is impossible not to bear testimony to their qualities, which have acquired for them the eminent reputation which they enjoy. The Pianos of their manufacture, on which I have played, are exceedingly remarkable for their qualities. The bass is powerful without harshness, and the upper notes sweet, clear and harmoniously mellow, (chrystaline,) and I do not hesitate to express in regard to these instruments my entire satisfaction, and to declare that they are equal if not superior to the best manufactured in Europe or this country by the most celebrated makers.
Signed, L. M. GOTTSCHALK.

STOMACH BITTERS.
STOMACH BITTERS.
STOMACH BITTERS.

The proprietors of this justly esteemed and well-known brand of Stomach Bitters, do not deem it necessary, in order to give their goods a fictitious, or even an enhanced value, to take a fling at all other Bitters, and proclaim in small capitals that they are worthless. Our Bitters do not need this, as we place them before the public on their merits, and invite your careful attention to the goods we allow our brand upon, knowing as we do so, that our reputation is at stake. The name, "Red Jacket," is taken from the original compound by the native child of the forrest, and with the addition of a few herbs by Dr. Chopin, made more agreeable to the taste, they have now a peculiarly healthy, soothing and recuperative influence, especially for the patient rising from the bed of sickness, loss of appetite, distress after eating, dizziness, and all diseases arising from Torpid Liver or Indigestion.

They strengthen and invigorate the system.
They are unequaled for general debility.
They are a sure cure for dyspepsia.
They give a good and healthy appetite.
They assist digestion.
They are the best stimulant in existence.
They are a sure preventive of Fever and Ague.
They relieve constipation.
They cure Nervous Headache.
They are perfectly pure and palatable.
They make the debilitated strong, and restore to strength the exhausted.

Aged persons and delicate females will find they can save large doctor's bills by the use of these Bitters.

FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE

Over the Post Office!

There is nothing so much sought for by the public as a practical Sewing Machine, one that is Simple, Strong & Reliable.

One that will run for years without the annoyance of being out of repair; one that is noiseless and swift in motion; also that makes the stitch as you want it, alike on both sides of the fabric; such are the machines of the

COMPANY!

Who take pleasure in placing their machines before the public, and unhesitatingly say they are the best in the world, and openly and publicly challenge machines of any and all manufactures to do as large a range of work as can easily be done on one of these machines. They make

and have all the advantages of a reversible feed motion, which carries the work either way, which, together with making all the four stitches, can be done whilst the machine is in motion; the saving of time in stopping to change the length of stitch, is obviated by this machine.

Any correspondence regarding our machines will be promptly answered. Enclose a letter stamp and we will send circular and sample of work by return mail.

THE LONG SOUGHT FOR

DISCOVERED AT LAST.

CHEROKEE REMEDY

AND

CHEROKEE INJECTION!

Compounded from Roots, Barks & Leaves.

CHEROKEE REMEDY, the great Indian Diuretic cures all diseases of the urinary organs.

☞ It is prepared in a highly concentrated form, the dose only being from one to two teaspoonfuls three times per day.

☞ It is diuretic and alterative in its action; purifying and cleansing the blood, causing it to flow in all of its original purity and vigor; thus removing from the system all pernicious causes which have induced disease.

CHEROKEE INJECTION is intended as an ally or assistant to the Cherokee Remedy, and should be used in conjunction with that medicine in all cases of Gleet, Gonorrhea, Fluor Albus. Its effects are healing, soothing and demulcent, removing all scalding, heat and pain, instead of the burning and almost unendurable pain that is experienced with nearly all the cheap quack injections.

☞ By the use of the CHEROKEE REMEDY and CHEROKEE INJECTION—the two medicines at the same time—all improper discharges are removed, and the weakened organs are speedily restored to full vigor and strength.

☞ Price, Cherokee Remedy, $2 per bottle, or three bottles for $5.

STOMACH BITTERS.

The proprietors of this justly esteemed and well-known brand of Stomach Bitters, do not deem it necessary, in order to give their goods a fictitious, or even an enhanced value, to take a fling at all other Bitters, and proclaim in small capitals that they are worthless. Our Bitters do not need this, as we place them before the public on their merits, and invite your careful attention to the goods we allow our brand upon, knowing as we do so, that our reputation is at stake. The name, "Red Jacket," is taken from the original compound by the native child of the forest, and with the addition of a few herbs by Dr. Chapin, made more agreeable to the taste, they have now a peculiarly healthy, soothing and recuperative influence, especially for the patient rising from the bed of sickness, loss of appetite, distress after eating, dizziness, and all diseases arising from Torpid Liver or Indigestion.

They strengthen and invigorate the system.
They are unequaled for general debility.
They are a sure cure for dyspepsia.
They give a good and healthy appetite.

FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE

Over the Post Office!

There is nothing so much sought for by the public as a practical Sewing Machine, one that is Simple, Strong & Reliable.

One that will run for years without the annoyance of being out of repair: one that is noiseless and swift in motion; also that makes the stitch as you want it, alike on both sides of the fabric; such are the machines of the

COMPANY!

Who take pleasure in placing their machines before the public, and unhesitatingly say they are the best in the world, and openly and publicly challenge machines of any and all manufactures to do as large a range of work as can easily be done on one of these machines. They make

and have all the advantages of a reversible feed motion, which carries the work either way, which, together with making all the four stitches, can be done whilst the machine is in motion; the saving of time in stopping to change the length of stitch, is obviated by this machine.

Any correspondence regarding our machines will be promptly answered. Enclose a letter stamp and we will send circular and sample of work by return mail.

THE LONG SOUGHT FOR

DISCOVERED AT LAST.

CHEROKEE REMEDY

AND

CHEROKEE INJECTION!

Compounded from Roots, Barks & Leaves.

CHEROKEE REMEDY, the great Indian Diuretic cures all diseases of the urinary organs.

It is prepared in a highly concentrated form, the dose only being from one to two teaspoonfuls three times per day.

It is diuretic and alterative in its action; purifying and cleansing the blood, causing it to flow in all of its original purity and vigor; thus removing from the system all pernicious causes which have induced disease.

CHEROKEE INJECTION is intended as an ally or assistant to the Cherokee Remedy, and should be used in conjunction with that medicine in all cases of Gleet, Gonorrhea, Fluor Albus. Its effects are healing, soothing and demulcent, removing all scalding, heat and pain, instead of the burning and almost unendurable pain that is experienced with nearly all the cheap quack injections.

By the use of the CHEROKEE REMEDY and CHEROKEE INJECTION—the two medicines at the same time—all improper discharges are removed, and the weakened organs are speedily restored to full vigor and strength.

Price, Cherokee Remedy, $2 per bottle, or three bottles for $5.
